CHAPTER I

Legislative background¹

- (1) The legal background of the Doctoral Regulations of the University of Debrecen consists of the following acts and decrees:
- Act CCIV of 2011 on national higher education (hereinafter: National Higher Education Act);
 - Government Decree 137/2008 (V.16.) on the state-recognized certified examination of foreign language attainment and on the nostrification in Hungary of language certificates of foreign language attainment issued abroad;
 - Government Decree 50/2008 (III.14.) on funding higher education institutions based on an education, science and maintainer-dependent formula;
 - Government Decree 51/2007 (III.26.) on allowances available to higher education students and certain fees payable by them;
 - Government Decree 387/2012 (XII.19.) on doctoral schools, the doctoral degree conferment procedure and habilitation;
 - Government Decree 423/2012 (XII. 19.) on the admission procedure to higher education institutions;
 - Government Decree 87/2015 (IV.9.) on the implementation of certain provisions of Act CCIV of 2011 on national higher education;
 - Act C of 2001 on the recognition of foreign certificates and degrees;
- (2) In adopting its Doctoral Regulations, the University of Debrecen took into consideration:
- the official position of the Hungarian Accreditation Committee on the establishment and operation of doctoral schools;
 - the Rules of Operation and Organisation of the University of Debrecen, as well as the regulations related to doctoral education and the conferment of doctoral degrees, constituting an appendix thereto.
- (3) A scope of the Regulations extends to the students, faculty members and researchers participating in the doctoral education, others contributing to the doctoral education and procedures, as well as those participating in the doctoral degree conferment procedure. In case of students whose doctoral education commenced before 1 September 2016, as well as doctoral candidates whose degree conferment procedure started before that date, the provisions of the Doctoral Regulations of the University of Debrecen adopted in 2008, as amended, shall be applied for the entire period of the doctoral education and the degree conferment procedure.

- (4) Within the framework of the present Regulations, the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas may also adopt supplementary regulations and rules of procedure. The detailed rules applicable to the operations of the individual doctoral schools shall be contained in their own rules of operation.
- (5) The University shall make the Doctoral Regulations available on its website. The doctoral schools available on their own websites, as well as in the national doctoral database (doktori.hu)

CHAPTER II

Definitions

For the purposes of the Doctoral Regulations of the University of Debrecen, the terms listed below, related to doctoral education and the conferment of doctoral degrees, shall have the following meanings:

doctoral committee: a body created for the organisation of doctoral education and the conferment of degrees, which has the right to make decisions with respect to doctoral education, specifically regarding admissions, starting the degree conferment procedure, as well as the decision on the conferment of degrees. At the University of Debrecen, there is a doctoral committee of the university, elected by the Senate, as well as doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas, elected by the doctoral committee of the university.

doctoral school: an educational organisation, operating with the approval of the Senate, encompassing various organisational units of the university, where the programmes aimed at earning academic degrees are conducted. Academic or other research groups supported by the Hungarian Academy of Sciences or research institutes outside of the institution may also participate in the work of the doctoral school.

core member: a faculty member or researcher having an academic degree in the discipline and research area of the doctoral school, engaged in continuous, high-quality academic activities, employed in full time in regular employment or as a state employee, who has identified the University of Debrecen in accordance with Section 26 (3) of the National Higher Education Act as his or her institute of affiliation for the purposes of public funding. With the approval of the doctoral committee, a Professor Emeritus of the University of Debrecen, as such term is defined in Section 32 (1) of the National Higher Education Act, may also be a core member. Further, core members may also be academic advisers or research professors having an academic degree in the discipline and research area of the doctoral school, engaged in continuous, high-quality academic activities, employed by a research institute in full time in regular employment or as state employees, having the title “Doctor of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences,” provided that the University has concluded an agreement to this effect with the given research institute. A core member shall satisfy the above conditions for at least 5 years, and shall agree to also serve as a dissertation supervisor in the doctoral school. Core members may only be persons under whose supervision at least one (or in case of co-supervisors, two) candidate(s) has/have received a doctoral degree.

head of the doctoral school: a full professor of the University of Debrecen responsible for the academic standard and educational work of the doctoral school, who shall be a regular or corresponding member, or a doctor of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences, or a doctor of sciences (hereinafter, collectively: doctor of the academy).

council of the doctoral school: a body assisting the head of the doctoral school, meeting regularly, elected by the core members of the doctoral school, and whose members are appointed and relieved by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

faculty members of the doctoral school: faculty members and researchers having academic degrees who – at the recommendation of the head of the doctoral school – are considered doctoral programme: educational and research organisations operating within doctoral schools, in case of satisfying the conditions specified by the doctoral regulations and having the approval of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

doctoral student: a student participating in doctoral education, who has the rights and obligations as defined in the provisions of law on higher education; doctoral student status: status based on the legal relationship between the doctoral student and the higher education institution, the content of which consists of the rights and obligations of the doctoral student and the institution as defined in the provisions of law on higher education. Student status is evidenced by the university by way of issuing and validating a student identification card.

state-funded doctoral scholarship: financial aid provided to doctoral students of Hungarian citizenship, or foreign doctoral students to be given the same status as Hungarian students on the basis of a provision of law or international treaty, participating in full-time, regular doctoral programmes.

doctoral education: educational, research and reporting activity, conducted in line with the specific features of the disciplinary area and the needs of the doctoral student, in the framework of individual or group-based preparation. The doctoral education consists of the coursework and research, as well as the research and dissertation stages. A prerequisite of participation in doctoral education is the possession of a master's degree. The minimum number of credits to earn in the doctoral education is 240; the length of the education is 8 semesters.

dissertation topic: a research topic that is suitable for the purpose of the doctoral student, under the supervision of the dissertation supervisor, acquiring the knowledge and skills necessary for the application of research methods, to create original academic results, and to give proof of the above in the form of academic publications, academic presentations and a doctoral dissertation (work, project).

complex examination: an examination to be completed in the course of the doctoral education, at the end of the fourth semester, as the conclusion of the coursework and research stage and as the condition of the commencement of the research and dissertation stage, which assesses and evaluates the student's progress in the academic and research fields.

dissertation supervisor: a faculty member or researcher with an academic degree whose proposal for a dissertation topic or topics has been approved by the council of the doctoral school and who, on the basis of the above, can responsibly supervise and assist the doctoral student in his or her studies, research and preparation for the receiving of a doctoral degree.

academic point (credit): the unit earned in the doctoral programme for the performance of academic work in the form of learning, fulfilling course requirements, conducting research or performing teaching activities. One credit may generally be earned by 30 hours of work.

study abroad programme: part of the doctoral education in which the doctoral student may participate on the basis of a work programme, approved by his or her supervisor, which ensures the validity of the given academic period in the university's doctoral education programme. The decision on the acceptance of the work programme of study abroad programmes shall be made by the council of the doctoral school.

doctoral degree conferment procedure: the research and dissertation stage of the doctoral education after the successful complex examination.

doctoral dissertation: a written document, work or project created by the student in the stage of the degree conferment procedure whereby the doctoral candidate is to prove that he or she is capable of independently creating academic work that is commensurate to the requirements of the doctoral degree. A dissertation may be written in Hungarian or English, or other languages if justified by the topic of the dissertation.

doctoral theses: a summary work prepared for the academic public on the basis of the doctoral dissertation, in which the candidate describes his or her academic results on the basis of which, in the degree conferment procedure, he or she can give proof of preparation for receiving the academic degree. The doctoral theses shall be prepared in Hungarian and English (or other languages, in line with the characteristics of the given discipline).

doctoral degree: a degree that may be conferred by the doctoral committee of the university, which can be obtained on the basis of participation in regular doctoral education organised by the university or individual preparation, in both cases in the framework of a doctoral degree conferment procedure.

CHAPTER III

The organisational framework of doctoral education and the obtaining of degrees

1. Doctoral schools and doctoral programmes

(1) The University of Debrecen conducts regular doctoral education programmes in the disciplinary areas and disciplines covered by its operating permit, and confers doctoral (PhD) degrees as terminal university degrees, on the basis of such programmes. The doctoral degree is conferred as evidence of thorough knowledge of the given discipline at a high level, original academic results accomplished, and the ability to conduct research independently.

(2) The educational and research frameworks for the regular doctoral education programmes are the doctoral schools. Within doctoral schools, at the initiative of the doctoral school and with the approval of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, doctoral programmes may operate.

(3) The setting up of a doctoral school may be initiated by at least seven core members. The majority of the core members shall be full university professors. One person may only be a core member in one doctoral school at a given time. A doctoral school working in several disciplines shall have at least three core members per discipline (but at least nine in total), the majority of whom shall be full university professors, and who shall conduct research in the given discipline. The doctoral schools working in the discipline of education science may also have core members from a disciplinary area related to teacher education.

(4) An application to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area (or in the absence of such committee, to the doctoral committee of the university) shall be submitted by the person proposed as the head of the doctoral school for approval of the setting up of a doctoral school. In case the support is given, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall submit the application to the doctoral committee of the university. The foundation documentation of the doctoral school shall be prepared by the core members of the doctoral school. The documentation shall include:

- a) the classification of the doctoral school according to disciplinary area, discipline (branch of art);
- b) the master's programmes, building on which the higher education institution satisfies the conditions set forth in section 16 (2) of the National Higher Education Act;
- c) the designation of the research area of the doctoral school;
- d) the designation of the doctoral degree that may be issued as a result of the doctoral degree conferment procedure;
- e) the names, academic (or artistic) CVs, and documentation on the most important academic (in case of a doctoral school of arts, academic or artistic) accomplishments and works of the person nominated as the head of the doctoral school, of the core members, of the supervisors proposed for the first three years, as well as of other faculty members of the doctoral school, visiting faculty members (or artists, in case of a doctoral school of arts) from Hungary and abroad;
- f) the educational plan of the doctoral school;
- g) the international relations of the doctoral school, which are expected to be taken into consideration in the course of its operations;
- h) the quality assurance plan of the doctoral school;

- i) the rules of operation of the doctoral school;
- j) the declarations of the persons concerned to the effect that they accept the positions for which they are nominated, and they satisfy the conditions applicable to them;
- k) the cooperation agreement(s) related to the activities of the doctoral school.

(5) If it agrees with the application, the doctoral committee of the university shall submit the same to the university senate.

(6) The rector shall, after the decision of the university Senate on the setting up of the doctoral school, request that the Hungarian Education Authority enter the doctoral school in its register.

(7) The head of the doctoral school shall be a university professor in the full-time employment of the university, who has an academic degree or the title doctor of the Academy (DSc). The head of the doctoral school shall be elected from the core members of the doctoral school – on the nomination of the majority of core members, after also obtaining the opinion of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area – by the doctoral committee of the university and appointed by the rector for a term not exceeding five years. The appointment is renewable without limitation. The appointment shall be terminated with the resignation of the head of the doctoral school or with the termination of his or her full-time employment. In case of the termination of the appointment of the head of the doctoral school, the core members of the doctoral school shall nominate, based on their majority vote, for the person of the new head, from among the core members of the doctoral school who are full professors. The duties of the head of the doctoral school:

- being responsible for supervising the work of the council of the doctoral school and for the execution of the decisions of the council;
- coordinating the professional work of the doctoral school and being responsible for its quality;
- representing the doctoral school;
- supervising the administration of the doctoral school and exchanging information with the relevant doctoral committee/councils;
- being responsible for the use of the state funding of doctoral education and other financial sources received by the doctoral school, in compliance with the university's rules of financial management.

(9) A doctoral programme may be created within a doctoral school if, in addition to the head of the programme, at least three other faculty members of the doctoral school having the necessary academic qualifications and being in the full-time employment of the university participate in the programme. An exemption from this rule may, in exceptional and justified cases, be granted by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area. The powers and the duties of the doctoral programmes operating within the doctoral school shall be drawn up in the rules of operation of the doctoral school. The decision on the launching of doctoral programmes shall be made, on the basis of the recommendation of the doctoral school, by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

(10) The head of the doctoral programme shall be a core member of the doctoral school in employment or other legal relationship with the university, who is a holder of the title doctor of the Academy or – in exceptional cases, on the basis of the decision of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University – of equivalent academic accomplishment. The head of the doctoral programme is appointed and relieved from his or her duties, at the initiative of the doctoral school and with the approval of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, by the Chairperson of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area. The appointment shall be terminated with the resignation of the head of the doctoral programme, with the termination of his or her employment or other legal relationship with the university, or by way of being relieved of his or her duties, on the basis of the decision of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

The duties of the head of the doctoral programme:

- supervising the professional work in the doctoral programme;
- participating in the work of the council of the doctoral school with responsibility.

Further duties and powers of the heads of programmes shall be included in the rules of operations of the doctoral schools.

(11) Faculty members of a doctoral schools shall be the faculty members and researchers, having academic degrees, who are considered by the council of the doctoral school as suitable for the duties of teaching, research and supervising in the framework of the doctoral school. Faculty members of the doctoral school may announce courses and dissertation topics in the framework of the regular doctoral education.

(12) Faculty members may, at the proposal of the council of the doctoral school and on the basis of the decision of the doctoral council of the disciplinary area, undertake the task of serving as dissertation supervisors. Dissertation supervisors supervise the studies and research of doctoral students. In exceptional cases, approved by the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University and justified by professional reasons, a co-supervisor may also be designated in addition to the principal supervisor. The tasks of the dissertation supervisor:

- announcing doctoral dissertation topics (on the website of the doctoral school and in the national database);
- making a proposal on the educational and research plan of the doctoral student, and taking responsibility for the quality and the execution of the same;
- ensuring an opportunity for regular professional consultations, and certifying the performance of research tasks in each semester;
- preparing an annual written report for the head of the doctoral school on the progress and results of the doctoral student;
- supporting the doctoral student in the writing of academic publications, the preparation of the doctoral dissertation, and in securing scholarships abroad;
- certifying that the candidate contributed to the results contained in the dissertation by way of his or her own original research, and confirming that he or she supports the acceptance of the dissertation.

In one enrolment period, a maximum of 3 new doctoral students may be admitted for each dissertation supervisor, and a maximum of 8 doctoral students may work under a single dissertation supervisor at any given time. In the course of the approval of the appointment of the dissertation supervisor, the doctoral council of the disciplinary area shall take into consideration the results of the earlier supervising activity.

(13) The professional activities of doctoral schools shall be supervised by the head of the doctoral school and the council of the doctoral school having at least three members. The Chairperson of the latter shall be the head of the doctoral school, while its members shall be the heads of the doctoral programmes and a number of other faculty members, as prescribed in the rules of operation of the doctoral school. The council of the doctoral school may also have among its members one or several doctoral students, who shall have the right of consultation. The secretary of the doctoral school may, in case he or she is not otherwise a member, participate at the meetings of the council with the right of consultation.

The duties of the council of the doctoral school shall be:

- drawing up the rules of operation, the educational plan and the quality assurance plan of the doctoral school, as well as implementing the same;
- initiating any necessary changes in the persons of the heads of the doctoral programmes, and submitting proposals to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area;
- making decisions concerning changes in the faculty members of the doctoral school;
- initiating changes as necessary in the name and content of the doctoral school and the doctoral programmes;
- initiating the launching of new doctoral programmes;
- providing the infrastructural and professional conditions necessary for the academic and research activities of the doctoral students;
- defining the structure of the regular doctoral education programme, announcing courses;
- making proposals for the purpose of the supervisors of the individual doctoral students, as well as possible changes in the person of the dissertation supervisor;
- approving the individual educational plans and research topics of doctoral students in the regular education programme;
- monitoring the progress of doctoral students in terms of their education and research, as well as the activities of the dissertation supervisors, and recording the system of monitoring in the quality assurance plan of the doctoral school;
- in justified cases, making proposals to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area for the deletion of students from the programme;
- making recommendations for the composition of the boards of the complex examination and the defence boards, as well as the examination subjects of those taking the complex examination;
- organising and holding the preliminary defence of the doctoral dissertations;
- making decisions on the use of the state funding of doctoral education and other financial sources received by the doctoral school.

The council of the doctoral school may delegate a certain part of its duties, as defined in its rules of operation, to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area or the doctoral programmes operating within the school. The appeals forum from the council of the doctoral school shall be the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

(14) The administrative duties of the doctoral school are performed by the secretary of the doctoral school. The secretary of the doctoral school shall be appointed by the head of the doctoral school, and may receive remuneration for his or her work. The duties of the secretary of the doctoral school:

- performing the administrative and record-keeping obligations of the doctoral school;
- announcing the subjects included in the educational plan of the doctoral school in the uniform academic administration system of the university (Neptun);
- uploading the doctoral dissertations and doctoral theses written in the doctoral school, as well as the invitations to the doctoral defences, to the electronic archive of the university (DEA);
- the regular updating of the data and documents of the doctoral school in the national doctoral database (doktori.hu); adding and deleting students, faculty members, dissertation supervisors and core members in accordance with the decisions of the relevant bodies; publishing dissertation topic announcements; publishing doctoral defence announcements;
- the regular updating of the website of the doctoral school;
- performing secretarial duties for the council of the doctoral school.

Additional duties of the secretary of the doctoral school shall be included in the rules of operation of the doctoral school. The head of the doctoral school shall be responsible for checking the performance of the administrative obligations of the secretary.

(15) The involvement of a dissertation co-supervisor is only possible before obtaining the pre-degree certificate, in case it is justified by the disciplinary distance between the two supervisors' areas of specialisation.

²(16) No person may participate in the activities of the doctoral school against whom a condemning decision was adopted by the Academic Ethics Committee of UD or the Academic Ethics Committee of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. The members of the doctoral schools shall indicate to the head of the school (by sending a copy of the decision) if a condemning decision was adopted against them in a case of academic ethics by either of the above forums.

² Amended by DCAH resolution no. 50/2017 (12 July), effective from 12 July 2017.

2. Doctoral councils of the university and of the disciplinary areas

(1) The university shall have a doctoral committee, and each of the disciplinary areas shall also have a doctoral committee, elected by the doctoral committee of the university. With the exception of doctoral student representatives, all members of the doctoral committees with voting rights shall be persons with academic degrees, satisfying the conditions for core members. In the selection of the members of the doctoral committees, it shall be ensured that at least one-third of all members with voting rights shall be persons who are not in the employment of the university. Doctoral councils shall have meetings at least twice per semester.

(2) The duties of the doctoral committee of the university are performed by the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University. The Chairperson and the members of the council are elected by the University Senate in accordance with Section 16 (5) of the National Higher Education Act and the university's Rules of Organisation and Operations. The Chairperson of the Doctoral Student Government shall be a member of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council.

(3) The Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University shall primarily make decisions in issues related to the doctoral education and the conferment of doctoral degrees that are questions of principle or concern the entire university, thereby ensuring that the quality and reputation of the doctoral education is unified across the university. The merits of personnel-related questions are dealt with by the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas; with the exception of the conferment, nostrification and revocation of doctoral degrees, the doctoral committee of the university shall only deal with individual questions in case of disputes or complaints.

(4) Doctoral councils of disciplinary areas shall be formed in disciplinary areas where the university operates at least two doctoral schools. Certain, individual disciplinary areas may also operate a joint doctoral committee. In case of doctoral schools operating in more than one disciplinary area the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University shall decide on which doctoral committee the given doctoral school belongs to. In justified cases, doctoral schools operating in interdisciplinary areas may belong to more than one doctoral committee operating in different disciplinary areas on the basis of the decision of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University. All heads of doctoral schools in a disciplinary area shall, by virtue of their position, also be members of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area. In the selection of the members of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, an effort shall be made to represent all disciplines in which the university is entitled to confer a doctoral degree. Doctoral councils of the disciplinary areas are created by the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University, the Chairpersons and members of the councils – with a view to the above principle – shall be elected by the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University on the basis of the proposals of the doctoral schools concerned, and shall be appointed and relieved from duty by the Chairperson of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University. The Chairpersons of the doctoral committees of disciplinary areas shall, by virtue of their position, be members of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University.

(5) The Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University shall

- draw up the university's doctoral regulations, and initiate any amendments thereof, when necessary;
- decide on the appointment and relieving of the Chairpersons and members of the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas;
- monitor the doctoral education at the university, and initiate changes when necessary;

- control the process of admissions, as well as the doctoral education and degree conferment procedures, also including the verification that the conditions of degree conferment (e.g. publications) have been satisfied;
- provide its opinion on proposals for the establishing, changing or discontinuing of doctoral schools, and then – in case of approval – forwards these proposals to the University Senate;
- regularly evaluates for the University Senate – when requested – the doctoral education and the degree conferment procedure;
- elects the heads of the doctoral schools;
- with a view to the principles of the National Doctoral Committee and the development strategies of the university, decides on the distribution of the annual number of admissible students between the disciplinary areas;
- adopts its position on proposals for the conferment of doctoral degrees with high distinction;
- adopts its position on proposals on the proposals for honorary doctors;
- monitors the use of the state funding of doctoral education;
- decides on the proposals of the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas;
- decides on the appointment of co-supervisors;
- decides on the conferment, nostrification and revocation of doctoral degrees.

(6) The doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas shall

- monitor the doctoral education programme and, if necessary, initiate personnel-related or organisational changes;
- prepare their opinions and then forward their recommendations to the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University for the establishing of new doctoral schools, the changing or termination of doctoral schools in the disciplinary area, as well as changes in the persons of the heads of the doctoral schools;
- at the recommendation of the councils of doctoral schools, make decisions on the launching of doctoral programmes in doctoral schools, as well as on the appointment and relieving of the heads of the programmes;
- decide on the announcement of admissions opportunities;
- decide on the distribution of the state scholarship places between the doctoral schools within the given disciplinary area;
- decide on the admission of students to the doctoral schools and on the dissertation supervisors of the admitted doctoral students;
- decide on the application to take the complex examinations submitted by students preparing individually for the doctoral degree conferment procedure (cf. Section 53 (3) of the National Higher Education Act);
- at the recommendation of the councils of doctoral schools, decide on the approval of changing a doctoral student's dissertation supervisors and the appointment of the new supervisor;
- provide opinions on applications for the appointment of dissertation co-supervisors;
- decide on the approval of applications for the interruption of studies;
- decide on the recognition of documented achievements outside of the doctoral education by credits;
- decide on the reasoned proposals of the councils of doctoral schools on the suspension of the doctoral scholarships of those admitted to the doctoral programmes, as well as the unilateral termination of student status;
- ensure that the records required by Appendix 3 to the National Higher Education Act and Government Decree 87/2015. (IV.9.) are established and maintained;
- accept applications for the degree conferment procedure and decide on the admission of doctoral dissertations to the defence;

- appoint the Chairpersons and members of the admissions and complex examinations boards and the defence boards, as well as designate the subjects of the complex examination.
- on the basis of the opinion of the defence board, decide on the request of the candidate for a closed defence;
- provide opinions on the conferment and revoking of doctoral degrees, as well as the nostrification of academic degrees received abroad.

The administrative duties of the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas, as well as the division of work between the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas and the councils of the doctoral schools shall be defined in the rules of procedure of the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas, which are drawn up by the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas. The doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas provide in every issue specified by laws that are not detailed in the present Regulations.

Some administrative tasks (entering new subjects into Neptun - the electronic academic record-keeping system - and uploading the data and documentation related to the conferment of doctoral degree) shall be carried out by the PhD administrator appointed by the Chairperson of the Doctoral Committee of Medical Sciences.

(7) The meetings of the doctoral committees shall have a quorum if more than 50% of the members having voting rights are present. The decision-making shall be in accordance with the Rules of Organisation and Operations.

(8) If the decision of the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas is different from the decisions of the professional boards (e.g. defence board etc.), then the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas are required to justify their decision in writing.

(9) The forum of appeals from the doctoral committee of the disciplinary areas is the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University, while from the latter, the forum of appeals is the rector. An appeal against the decision of the doctoral committees may only be permitted in case of a breach of law or the doctoral regulations(s), or a procedural error.

(10) The general rules applicable to the election, legal status and operations of doctoral committees are defined in the Rules of Organisation and Operations of the University.

3. Academic records

(1) The doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas shall provide for the maintenance of records as required in Government Decree 87/2015. (IV.9.) in the electronic academic record-keeping system as follows:

- the students participating in doctoral education;
- the subjects and academic units offered by the doctoral schools in the given semester;
- on the performance of the academic obligations and the required research;
- any postponements of studies;
- doctoral students who have passed their comprehensive doctoral examinations;
- the degree conferment procedures.

The payment of scholarships and fees shall take place on the basis of the data in the electronic academic record-keeping system. The doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas shall be assisted in the performance of their administrative duties by a rapporteur from the Scientific Directorate.

The selection of the rapporteur shall be subject to the agreement of the Chairperson of the given doctoral committee of disciplinary area.

(2) The Scientific Directorate shall:

- coordinate the administrative activity of the rapporteurs of the disciplinary areas;
- maintain aggregated records of those admitted and participating in doctoral programmes;
- be responsible for the supply of data to supervising bodies;
- maintain a registry of data on persons who received doctoral degrees and on the issuance of the diplomas;
- ensure that the required records of persons who received doctoral degrees are kept;
- maintain contacts, as required, with the competent department of the Ministry of Human Resources, the National Doctoral Committee, the Hungarian Education Authority and the Hungarian Accreditation Committee;
- coordinate the administration of the National Doctoral Database (doktori.hu) at the university.

4. The state funding of doctoral education

(1) The amount of the normative financing of state-financed doctoral students is determined by the Government in a decree.

(2) The proportion of the amount in the university's budget allocated to the doctoral education, as determined by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, which may not exceed 10%, may be spent on the operating costs of the councils and the salary of the rapporteurs of the disciplinary areas. The balance of the funding shall be divided up in full between the doctoral schools, in proportion to the number of doctoral students.

(4) The council of each doctoral school shall decide on the use of the funding received by that doctoral school. The council of the doctoral school shall submit an annual report to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area on the use of the funding.

CHAPTER IV

Doctoral education

5. Section 5.1 Admission to regular doctoral education

(1) There are two forms of regular (organised) doctoral education at the university: full-time (state scholarship supported or self-financing) and correspondence (self-financing, with the student maintaining his or her job). The Scientific Directorate shall announce admission opportunities and the related conditions annually, for all programmes, on the basis of data supplied by the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas, in a distribution according to disciplinary areas and doctoral schools, in the national admissions bulletin and on the website of the university. Admission opportunities and the related conditions shall be also published by the doctoral schools on their own websites. The information shall include:

- the number of doctoral students that may be admitted;
- information on fees and allowances;
- the conditions of the admission, with special attention to the evaluation of the entrance examination as well as the principles of ranking applied;
- the amount of the fee payable for the admissions procedure, as well as information on the payment of the same;
- other information as specified in a decree or as may be necessary for the applicants.

(2) The university may also offer and provide doctoral education in foreign languages.

(3) The form of application (see Appendix 2) is available electronically. The deadline for the application is 15 May; while in case of starting in the spring semester, the deadline is 15 November. Organising and supervising the entrance examinations is the duty of the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas, while conducting them is the duty of the doctoral schools.

(4) Admission to regular doctoral education is open to Hungarian and foreign citizens who have master's degrees and qualification received from a university in Hungary or abroad, or have a university education and qualification that is equivalent to the above, or will receive such degree and qualification in the year of their admission. For admission to doctoral education the knowledge of a foreign language necessary for the cultivation of the disciplinary area is mandatory. The doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas determine which language(s) knowledge is required for the cultivation of the given field of the disciplinary area. The Rules of Operation of the doctoral school contains the way in which language skill may be certified. The scoring system to be used in the admission process can be found in Appendix 3 to the present regulation. All further conditions and details of the application and admissions procedure shall be determined by the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas.

(5) The decision on the admission is made by the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas by 15 July, or in case of starting in the spring semester, by 15 January. The admission of students shall be to a specific doctoral school and shall also name the supervisor of the student. The Chairpersons of the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas shall inform the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University of decisions on admissions.

(6) The university may also admit students to non-state scholarships, but such applications shall be assessed on the basis of the same requirements as applicable to the others.

(7) The admission decisions shall be publicly available to all interested persons at the university. The doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas shall inform applicants of the decision within 8 days, and in case of rejection, also provide the reasons. An appeal against the rejecting decision of the doctoral committee may be submitted in case of a breach of a provision of law or institutional regulation occurred. The appeal is to be submitted to the rector of the university within 8 working days of the receipt of a decision of rejection. The rector shall make a decision on the appeal within 15 days of its receipt. No further appeal is available against this decision. In case of a positive decision, the admitted applicant shall be informed in the notice of the date of registration, the document necessary for the registration, and the starting date of the academic year. The notice shall also contain information on the costs related to doctoral education and how they are to be paid.

(8) Admitted applicants shall, at the time of registration, sign a declaration to the effect that they have read the doctoral regulation and the requirements of the doctoral school, and that they are therefore aware of their rights and obligations.

(9) In all cases where the costs of the education or the research are paid by the doctoral student, his or her employer, or some other party, the details conditions of the same shall be drawn up in writing.

Section 5.4 Applicants from abroad

In addition to Sections 5.1 to 5.3, applicants from abroad shall be also subject to the following provisions:

(1) Citizens of the European Union may – like Hungarian citizens – may apply to scholarship-based or self-financing programmes. If they do not receive a state scholarship nor one awarded by a scholarship organisation, they may only enrol in the self-financing programme.

(2) Nationals of third countries from outside the European Union may apply through the International Education Coordination Centre of the University of Debrecen.

(3) The grade of their degree certificates received from a foreign higher education institution shall not be taken into consideration by the admission committee, and the maximum points that can be awarded for professional proficiency and academic work is increased by 15 points each.

(4) The admission requirements and scoring system applicable to applicants from abroad may also be regulated by the DCAH differently, upon the recommendation of the programme councils.

(5) In case of foreign citizens, the certificate of good character may be substituted by a statement in which they declare that they have a clean criminal record.

(6) If the applicant has a state-recognized or nostrified, complex (earlier called “C”-type, i.e. oral and written) language examination of at least intermediate-level in one of the languages necessary for research in the given topic, it is sufficient to submit the degree certificate to the University of Debrecen for a recognition procedure for continued education purpose. In this case, the degree certificate will only entitle its holder for participating in the admission examination, pursuing studies and obtaining a degree at the University of Debrecen.

(7) If the applicant does not have a language examination, and wishes to have the degree certificate recognized only for a recognition procedure for continued education purpose, then it is sufficient to submit the degree certificate to the University of Debrecen for a recognition procedure for continued education purpose. Pursuant to the relevant provision, a matriculation examination or degree certificate obtained from a state-recognized foreign institute of public education shall be considered as the equivalent of a certificate of advanced level, monolingual, complex language examination in the given language of education. In this case, the degree certificate will only entitle its holder for participating in the admission examination, pursuing studies and obtaining a degree at the University of Debrecen.

(8) If the applicant wishes to have his/her foreign degree certificate recognized as a degree certificate and language examination with full effect in Hungary, the application shall be submitted to the Hungarian Equivalence and Information Centre of the Educational Authority.

(9) In all three cases, the following shall be submitted enclosed with the application:

- a certified copy of the original certificate (diploma);
- a certified copy of a document (such as an academic transcript) that serves as authentic evidence of the length of the studies and the successful performance of the prescribed academic requirements;
- the certified Hungarian translations of the documents mentioned above. A certified translation shall be one with an authentication clause attached by the National Office for Translation and Attestation (OFFI), Hungarian diplomatic missions or Hungarian civil law notaries.

If the applicant wishes to have his/her degree certificate recognized with the continued education purpose mentioned in Subsection (1) and (2) above, then the documents may also be submitted in a non-certified translation reviewed and stamped by a translation agency.

If an applicant having a degree certificate issued abroad is admitted and in case he/she requested the recognition of his/her degree certificate as a diploma and a language certificate, he/she shall present the certificate to this effect issued by the Hungarian Equivalence Committee at the time of enrolling for the first semester.

6. Full-time form of regular doctoral education

(1) The regular, full-time doctoral education programme is designed to help doctoral students in acquiring the knowledge and independent research practice necessary for obtaining the doctoral (PhD) degree. In the interest of the above, doctoral students participate in academic training, obtain research experience under the guidance of their supervisors, and may also undertake teaching duties on assignment.

(2)³ The length of the full-time programme is eight semesters, which consists of a coursework and research, as well as a research and dissertation stage. In the doctoral programme, the autumn semester lasts from 1 January until 31 January, while the spring semester lasts from 1 February until 31 August. The programmes are organised by the doctoral schools with the coordination of the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas. The doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas are responsible for making arrangements for announcing the sessions, the administration of the academic affairs and the closing of the semesters after examinations.

³ Amended by Senate resolution no. 24/2020 (25 June), effective from 26 June 2020.

(3) The studies and the research of a doctoral student is supervised by his or her dissertation supervisor. If properly justified, a doctoral student may request from the head of the doctoral school, once in the course the entire term of the programme, the appointment of a new supervisor. (If the supervisor is the head of the doctoral school, the request shall be submitted to the Chairperson of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area). The head of the doctoral school shall, after obtaining the opinion of the council of the doctoral school, provided that the reasons for the request are found to be justified, forward the request along with a proposal for a new supervisor to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, which shall then make a decision to approve or reject the request.

(4) An admitted doctoral student shall register in the manner and by the deadline prescribed by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, and shall receive a student identification card. The rapporteur of the disciplinary area shall complete a registry sheet for the registered doctoral student. Each semester, the student shall sign up for the required and/or optional courses from among those offered to fulfil his or her academic and research obligations. Certification of the academic results shall take place in the electronic academic record-keeping system. The performance of the required research shall be certified by the student's supervisor. This certificate shall be a required condition of the successful completion of the semester. Any stipend may only be paid in the subsequent semester on the basis of the successful completion of the semester.

(5) The unit of measurement of academic requirements is the academic point (credit). Credits are used for evaluating the performance of the academic, teaching and research duties of doctoral students in doctoral programmes. Doctoral students shall complete 30 ± 3 credits per semester, and a total of at least 240 credits during the entire education. If a doctoral student fails, for reasons imputable to him or her, to earn the required number of credits in a semester, a decision on the suspension of the payment of scholarship stipends and the transfer of the student into the self-financing programme shall be made by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area. If the doctoral student fails to make up for his or her missing credits within one year, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area may decide on the termination of his or her student status.

(6) The doctoral student may earn academic (course) credits by way of studying and passing examinations. The number of academic (course) credits required to be earned over the course of first 4 semesters of doctoral education is 12 to 20, with the exact number to be determined by the council of the doctoral school in the educational plan of the doctoral school. A council of the doctoral school may determine the required number of academic (course) credits to be earned per semester. The completion of the credits, on the basis of an examination, paper, report, etc. related to the course, shall be certified by the faculty member in charge of the course in the electronic academic record-keeping system. A credit may only be assigned to a course that is evaluated on a five-grade scale. Credits cannot be earned in the doctoral education by way of language courses.

(7) Based on the decision of the council of the doctoral school, teaching credits may be given to doctoral students for their teaching activities performed. The total number of credits that may be earned from such activity shall not exceed 40 credits over the course of the 8 semesters. 1 credit: teaching 1-2 hours per week, depending on the nature of the duty, over the course of one semester. The teaching duties and the credits assigned for it shall be entered in the electronic academic record-keeping system. The completion of the duty shall be certified by the head of the organisational unit in charge of the given module of teaching.

(8) The doctoral student shall earn the majority of the 240 credits required in the course of the programme (180-228 credits) as research credits. The completion of the credits shall be certified on the basis of the written report submitted by the doctoral student by his or her supervisor in each semester. The reports of the doctoral student shall be sent by the supervisor to the head of the doctoral school after the closing of the semesters.

(9) The doctoral committee of the disciplinary areas shall make the decision on the transfer of credits earned or other documented performance by the doctoral student at another university or in the course of a study trip abroad –, on the basis of the prior approval of the student's supervisor.

(10) From the period of core medical training and specialized practice completed as a resident participating in higher-level vocational training for healthcare professionals or as a central intern participating in specialized training for the supply of teaching faculty members of higher education institutions, the Doctoral Committee of Medical Sciences may approve the recognition and transfer of maximum two semesters or sixty credits. The conditions of such credit transfer and the procedure of recognition shall be defined by the Doctoral Committee of Medical Sciences in its own rules of procedure.

(11) Students in bachelor's, master's or undivided programmes may also register for courses offered for doctoral students, with the approval of the instructor, but students in bachelor's, master's or undivided programmes may not receive PhD credits for the completion of such courses.

(12) Doctoral students shall undergo a mandatory qualification at the end of the first and the third years, the form of which may vary according to disciplinary area (e.g. progress assessment board, chapter defence, report given before the council of the doctoral school). The council of the doctoral school shall, in the manner and according to the criteria specified in the quality assurance plan of the doctoral school, evaluate the progress made in the doctoral programme, as well as the performance of the doctoral student and the supervisor. The council of the doctoral school shall inform the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area of the result of such periodic evaluation, and if necessary, shall propose the changing of the person of the supervisor or the reclassification of the state-financed doctoral student into a self-financing programme.

(13) In the course of the doctoral education, at the end of the fourth semester, as the conclusion of the coursework and research stage and as the condition of the commencement of the research and dissertation stage, doctoral students shall take a complex examination, which assesses and evaluates their progress in the academic and research fields.

(14) Upon the successful completion of the eight semesters of coursework, the doctoral student is given a pre-degree certificate (absolutorium). The absolutorium is the document evidencing that the doctoral student has completed all academic requirements. The doctoral committee of the disciplinary area may only issue the absolutorium for the doctoral student on the basis of the written approval of the head of the given doctoral school. No absolutorium may be issued to doctoral students who have not acquired the necessary 240 credits. The detailed rules applicable to the issuance of the absolutorium shall be defined by the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas.

(15) Financing in the full-time programme may be in the form of funding from a state scholarship or self-financing. The differences in the source of financing shall not mean any difference in the educational programmes.

(16) If a doctoral student fails to earn the required number of credits in a given semester for a reason imputable to the student, the programme council shall make a decision whether the student may continue his/her studies, and - in case of a scholarship-financed student - on the suspension of the payment of the stipend to the student. The programme council shall notify the DCAH of its decision. If the programme council permits the continuation of the studies, the student shall make up for the missing credits in the next active semester. If the doctoral student fails to make up for the deficiencies, the doctoral council of the disciplinary area shall make a decision on the termination of his/her student status. In case of make-up work, credits already completed shall be valid, the academic unit(s) belonging to such credits need not be repeated. If the programme council does not permit the continuation of the studies, the doctoral council of the disciplinary area shall terminate the student status.

(17) A change in the dissertation supervisor shall not be possible after obtaining the pre-degree certificate, with the exception of particularly justified cases (e.g. illness, death).

Section 6.1. The rules of enrolment/registration

(1) Students in the organised programme shall register in a way similar to full-time students in the graduate programme. Documents necessary for enrolment:

- student ID card;
- personal identity card;
- degree certificates evidencing the completion of earlier programmes;
- language examination(s);
- the completed enrolment form.

(2) The enrolment/registration period shall be the first two weeks of the course period. During this period, students may either enrol/register and start their studies or apply for a deferment.

(a) If the student fails to register for the next semester and does not apply for a deferment either, the DCAH shall call upon the student to register in writing. If the student fails to comply with this call, he/she shall be subjected to involuntary deferment for one semester. During eight semesters of the training, such involuntary deferment is only possible once; therefore, if a student fails to comply with his/her registration obligation one more time, the DCAH shall terminate his/her student status.

(b) If the student fails to register for the next academic semester on two consecutive occasions, and also fails to comply with his/her registration obligation by the relevant time limit specified in the written call, the DCAH shall terminate his/her student status.

7. The legal status of students in full-time regular doctoral education

(1) Student status is created in doctoral programmes by way of registration, and shall last until the completion of the doctoral studies lasting not more than four years, dismissal from the programme, or the day of expulsion from the institute and/or deletion from the register of students.

(2) The employment law aspects of the student status, including how it is to be treated for the purpose of determining the length of employment, sick leave, guarantees for loans taken out, etc. shall be determined in higher-level provisions of law.

(3) A doctoral student typically performs his or her duties at the university (or the research institute participating in the work of the doctoral school).

An exemption from the above rule may be granted by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area in individual cases.

(4) Students participating in doctoral education may undertake teaching duties. Doctoral students performing teaching duties are entitled to the rights of instructors as specified in Section 35 (1) of the National Higher Education Act.

(5) The content, nature and duration of teaching activities shall be regulated in a contract (doctoral student agreement), which shall be signed by the doctoral student and the head of the organisational unit in charge of the given teaching activity, and countersigned by the supervisor of the student. The head of the organisational unit in charge of the given teaching activity shall certify the performance of the duties undertaken.

(6) Doctoral students shall be subject to the scope of the university's Intellectual Property Management Regulations, as well as other university regulations as applicable.

(7) Doctoral students shall be required to keep the business secrets of the university in confidence. Any further legal relationship in which information constituting the business secrets of the university would be used shall be considered to create conflicts of interest.

(8) Doctoral students are entitled to an annual leave of 25 work days. The dates of the leave shall be recorded by the doctoral student's supervisor.

(9)

(10) Doctoral students who are recipients of state scholarships are entitled to live in a residence hall in all 12 months of the year, with the same conditions otherwise applicable to undergraduate students. The rules applicable to accommodation in residence halls shall be included in the documents titled "Regulations on the operation of the residence halls of the University of Debrecen" and "The regulations applicable to fees payable by and allowances available to the students of University of Debrecen".

8. Forms of support available to and fees payable by doctoral students

(1) Full-time doctoral students in regular doctoral education (as well as foreign doctoral students given the same status as Hungarian students on the basis of a provision of law or international treaty) may receive scholarship stipends from state or other funding. Any planning or organisational unit of the university may use its domestic or foreign grant support, budgetary allocation or other incomes for the payment of stipends to doctoral students. The annual amount of a doctoral student participating in a state-financed, full-time regular doctoral education programme shall be the equivalent of the annual normative financing, plus 56% of the textbook, sports and cultural normative financing. Each month, registered doctoral students shall receive one-twelfths of the annual amount thus determined.

(2) The range of services available to state-financed students free of charge shall be as follows:

- a) the lectures, seminars, consultations, practical sessions, field practices, reports, examinations necessary for the completion of the educational and academic requirements specified in the curriculum and the obtaining of the diploma and the absolution taken for the first time; the re-taking of unsuccessful examinations and reports on one occasion; as well as the degree-conferment procedure, during the existence of student status;

- b) activities in the college for advanced studies;
- c) the use of the various facilities of the higher education institute – library and basic library services, laboratory, IT, sports and recreational facilities – related to free services;
- d) the first issuance of all documents related to the education and the doctoral degree-conferment procedure.

(3) The university may not charge students for any administrative service fee (e.g. registration fee) in the framework of the state-financed education.

(4) In case of erroneous charging of fees, the doctoral student may submit an appeal to the Chairperson of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area within 15 days of its communication. A decision on such appeal shall be made within 8 days of receipt. The doctoral student may submit a request to the rector for remedy against the decision within 15 working days of its receipt. The rector may uphold, change or quash the decision of the Chairperson of the doctoral committee.

(5) The doctoral student shall receive remuneration for his or her teaching activities not constituting part of the doctoral education (i.e. for which no credit is earned), which is to be paid by the given organisational unit of education. The performance of work shall be on the basis of a doctoral student agreement. The working time of such activities shall not, in the average of one academic semester, exceed fifty percent of the hours worked in full-time employment. The work schedule of the student shall be determined in such a way that the student can satisfy his or her obligations to prepare for and take examinations. On the basis of the doctoral student agreement, the doctoral student shall be paid a salary, the monthly amount of which shall not be less, in case of employment corresponding to fifty percent of the hours worked in full-time employment, than the smallest statutory salary to be paid (minimum wage), or its time-proportionate part in case of employment in different hours.

(6) The doctoral student shall receive a remuneration for the performance of any research duty performed (for which no credit is earned), which shall be paid from the given research project or by the organisational unit of education concerned. The performance of work shall be on the basis of a doctoral student agreement. On the basis of the doctoral student agreement, the doctoral student shall be paid a salary, the monthly amount of which shall not be less, in case of employment corresponding to fifty percent of the hours worked in full-time employment, than the smallest statutory salary to be paid (minimum wage), or its time-proportionate part in case of employment in different hours.

(7) In case of living in a residence hall, the doctoral student is required to pay a fee, the amount of which is determined in the document titled “The regulations applicable to fees payable by and allowances available to the students of the University of Debrecen”.

(8) If the submission of the doctoral dissertation takes place in the framework of a state scholarship-financed student status, the degree-awarding procedure shall be free of charge. In all other cases, the payment of the full degree-awarding fee specified in Appendix 12 shall be paid.

9. Regular doctoral education with funding non-state-funded external scholarships

- (1) The university may conclude written contracts with non-governmental, religious and business organisations, as well as with foundations, public foundations, public bodies and private individuals on the establishment of a doctoral scholarship or scholarships.
- (2) Such contracts shall be signed by the authorized representative of the entity or person establishing the scholarship and, on behalf of the university, by the rector and the chancellor. In the contract, the university's obligation undertaken shall be only for the provision of doctoral education, not the conferment of the degree.
- (3) A contract may also be concluded on open scholarships (one that can be applied for by anyone) or closed scholarship (specifically offered to a doctoral school or person). In the latter case, the head of the given doctoral school shall also sign the contract.
- (4) The contract shall provide for the monthly amount of the stipend (the extent of the annual increase), as well as the schedule according to which the stipend is to be transferred by the entity to the university, and a statement to the effect that the source of the funding shall be available for a period of at least 4 years. The university shall be responsible for the payment of the stipend to the holder of the scholarship.
- (5) The contract may include an agreement on the supporting of research, as well as assuming the fees to be paid by the doctoral student.
- (6) The contract may not contain any provisions that are contrary to the National Higher Education Act, the Government Decree, and the university regulations.
- (7) For the winning of the four-year scholarship, the applicant (candidate) shall satisfy certain requirements prescribed in the valid admissions regulations of the university.
- (8) After the successful admission procedure and decision, the doctoral student shall participate in the regular doctoral education, in either full-time or correspondence form, as a self-financing student.
- (9) The holder of a doctoral scholarship shall, after registration, have a (doctoral) student status at the university and shall be issued a student identification card. Accordingly, the relevant (doctoral, academic, examination and disciplinary) regulations of the university shall be applicable to such doctoral students as well.
- (10) The doctoral student shall pay tuition, the amount of which shall be determined by the Doctoral Committee, and published together with the admission requirements (cf. Appendix 12). The amounts received from the tuition shall be used for the doctoral education of the student paying it, with the decision on the actual use made by the Doctoral Committee.

10. Interruption of the doctoral studies

- (1) If the student gives notice of the fact that in the next semester they do not intend to satisfy their academic obligations, or the student fails to register for the next semester, their student status shall be suspended. The total consecutive period for which a student may have suspended status shall not exceed two semesters. The total combined length of time during which a student may have passive status during the doctoral education shall not exceed six semesters.

(2) A doctoral committee of the disciplinary area may, at the request of the student, approve a longer suspension of the student status than the limit set in section (1) above, provided that the student is unable to satisfy his/her academic obligations due to giving birth, suffering an accident or illness, or some other unexpected reason beyond his/her control. The student status may only be suspended for the entire semester. No stipend from state scholarship may be paid during the suspension of the student status.

(3)⁴ Student status shall terminate:

- at the end of the fourth semester of the doctoral programme, if the student failed to complete the complex examination;
 - on the last day of the semester in which the student obtained the pre-degree certificate (absolutorium);
 - at the end of the 14th semester after the date of being admitted to the programme;
 - at the end of the eight semester of coursework for which the student registered for courses.
- The president of the doctoral council of the disciplinary area shall notify the student of the termination of his/her student status in writing.*

(4) The doctoral student may participate in study abroad programmes. Doctoral students may participate in study abroad programmes on the basis of work programmes approved by their supervisors that ensures the validity of the given academic period in the university's doctoral education programme. The duration of the participation in study abroad programmes shall count toward the length of the doctoral education programme, the student's status is not suspended, and the stipend from the state scholarship shall be paid to the student.

11. Correspondence form of regular doctoral education

(1) Employees of the university or persons who can be considered in analogous positions with employees may apply for and be granted admission to the correspondence form of regular doctoral education, while maintaining their employment.

(2) The admission procedure and the decision-making process is the same as in the case of those applying to the full-time form of the programme. The applicant may simultaneously request admission to the full-time and the correspondence form of regular doctoral education.

(3) Students participating in the correspondence form shall be required to complete their semesters in the same time and with the same conditions as those in the full-time form.

(4) Students in the correspondence form shall not receive a stipend, and the doctoral schools shall not receive state funding after them.

(5) Students in the correspondence form shall pay tuition, the amount of which shall be determined by the Doctoral Committee, and published together with the admission requirements (cf. Appendix 12). The amounts received from the tuition shall be used for the doctoral education of the student paying it, with the decision on the actual use made by the Doctoral Committee of Medical Sciences.

(6) Students in the correspondence form shall be subject to the scope of the university's Intellectual Property Management Regulations, as well as other university regulations as applicable.

⁴ Amended by Senate resolution no. 17/2020 (27 March), effective from 28 March 2020.

(7) Students in the correspondence form shall be required to keep the business secrets of the university in confidence. Any further legal relationship in which information constituting the business secrets of the university would be used shall be considered to create conflicts of interest.

12. Individual preparation

(1) The purpose of individual preparation is to enable professionals with master's degrees and certificates evidencing their professional qualifications, obtained from a Hungarian and foreign university (or diplomas certifying equivalent, university-level education and qualification), having a significant amount of experience as instructors and/or researchers, as well as documented academic accomplishments (publications of a sufficient number and quality) to obtain the doctoral (PhD) degree. The conditions of admission shall be defined in the rules of operation of the doctoral school. The conferment of doctoral degrees on the basis of individual preparation, as an exceptional procedure, should only be used in particularly justified cases. In the course of the admission procedure, the reasons shall be recorded by the doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas in writing.

(2) The doctoral committee of the disciplinary area may set the passing of an admission examination as the condition of accepting the application.

(3) Simultaneously with the acceptance of the application, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area designates the board and the subjects of the complex examination. After the acceptance of the application, the individually preparing student shall take a complex examination. Upon passing the complex examination, the individually preparing doctoral student shall be given the status of self-financing student, and their doctoral degree conferment procedure shall be started. If the student successfully completes the complex examination, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall recognize the minimum credits defined as the condition of admitting the student to the complex examination. Upon the student's request, on the basis of the knowledge and competences previously acquired, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area may also recognize additional credits.

(4) The doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall appoint a supervisor, from among the professionally competent supervisor members of the doctoral school, who shall monitor and assist the candidate in his or her preparation.

(5) Those granted the option of individual preparation are only given an exemption from the academic requirements of the first two years of the doctoral education, but shall otherwise satisfy all requirements of the granting of doctoral (PhD) degrees.

(6) Those preparing individually shall be required to pay a fee, and all incomes from such fee payment shall be used for the purposes of the doctoral education, as provided by the Doctoral Committee. The decision on the amount of the fees to be paid and its use shall be made by the Doctoral Committee (see Appendix 12). The general rules of the university shall apply to the payment of the fees.

13. The complex examination

(1) The complex examination is an examination to be completed in the course of the doctoral education, at the end of the fourth semester, as the conclusion of the coursework and research stage and as the condition of the commencement of the research and dissertation stage, which assesses and evaluates the student's progress in the academic and research fields.

(2) The condition of admission to the complex examination is that the student has earned at least 90 credits in the "coursework and research stage" of the doctoral education (first four semesters), including all "course credits" prescribed in the educational plan of the doctoral school (with the exception of those preparing individually). Application for the complex examination shall be in writing (see Appendix 4). Since the student enters the degree-conferment procedure upon the completion of the complex examination, application for the complex examination shall also constitute application for the degree-conferment procedure.

(3) The complex examination is to be taken publicly, before the board designated by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area. The examination board shall consist of at least three members, and at least one third of them shall be persons who are not in the employment of the institute where the doctoral school operates. The Chairperson of the examination board shall be a faculty member or researcher with the title of full university professor, habilitated university associate professor, habilitated college professor, Professor Emeritus or doctor of the Academy. All members of the examination board shall have academic degrees. The supervisor of the doctoral student may not be a member of the examination board.

(4) Prior to the complex examination, the supervisor shall evaluate the performance of the doctoral student, and shall make a declaration as to whether he or she recommends that the degree-conferment procedure be started.

(5) The complex examination consists of two main parts: in one part, the examinee's theoretical preparedness is assessed ("theoretical part"), while in the other part, the candidate shall give an account of his or her progress in the field of research ("dissertation part").

(6) In the theoretical part of the complex examination, the doctoral student shall give proof of his or her level of preparation in the literature of the field, as well as his or her knowledge of the most recent theoretical and practical knowledge in the relevant discipline. In the theoretical part of the complex examination, the candidate shall take examinations in at least two subjects/topics; the list of the subjects/topics shall be included in the educational plan of the doctoral school. The theoretical examination may also include a written part.

(7) In the second part of the complex examination, the examinee shall give an account, in the form of a lecture, of his or her knowledge of the relevant literature, reports on his or her research results, discusses the research plan pertaining to the second part of the doctoral programme, as well as the proposed schedule for the completion of the dissertation and the publication of the results. The supervisor shall be given an opportunity to also assess the candidate in the course of the examination.

(8) The examination board shall evaluate the theoretical and the dissertation parts of the examination separately. A written record, including a textual evaluation shall be drawn up of the complex examination (see Appendix 5/1). The results of the examination shall be announced on the day of the examination. The complex examination shall be considered as successful if the majority of the members of the examination board evaluated both parts of the examination as successful. The doctoral student may re-take an unsuccessful complex examination once, within the same examination period.

(9) The doctoral student may only register for the fifth semester of the doctoral programme after successfully completing the complex examination.

(10) The doctoral student shall have at least one publication (in addition to the publication taken into consideration at the time of the application) until the complex examination.

(11) The tasks of the council of the doctoral school:

- after the application for the complex examination and the degree-awarding procedure is submitted, making a preliminary, written recommendation for the chairperson and members of the complex examination committee and for the subjects of the examination, which are to be submitted to the DCAH by the representative of the programme council;
- organising the complex examinations at least once per semester (designating the place and time when they are held);
- notifying the DCAH of the place and time of the complex examinations;
- inviting the members of the committee;
- administering the examination;
- keeping the written record of the complex examination (and sending it back to the DCAH);
- reimbursing the members of the committee for their travel costs (Appendix 12).

(12) The tasks of the DCAH:

- approving the composition of the complex examination committee and the examination subjects. Only the subjects indicated in Appendix 14 can be approved as examination subjects. The decision on whether examinations taken in specialised postgraduate training programmes (engineering, medical specialisations etc.) in a maximum of one secondary subject shall be made by the DCAH, based on the recommendation of the school council. The candidate may, based on the recommendation of the doctoral school, receive an exemption from the examination in the secondary subject of the complex examination. The programme council will notify the candidate of the composition of the committee. The candidate may submit an appeal to the DCAH concerning the composition of the committee within 8 days.
- issuing the written record of the complex examination.

CHAPTER V

The degree conferment procedure

14. The general conditions of the degree conferment procedure

- (1) The degree conferment procedure is the second, research and dissertation stage of the doctoral education programme, after the complex examination.
- (2) The doctoral student is required to apply for the degree conferment procedure simultaneously with the application to the complex examination (see Appendix 4). The application is to be submitted to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area. The doctoral degree conferment procedure shall commence by registration for the semester following the successful complex examination.
- (3) In the degree conferment procedure, student status may be suspended for a maximum of two semesters.
- (4) The doctoral student is required to submit the final version of the doctoral dissertation (as revised after the preliminary defence) within three years after the complex examination. On the basis of the student's request, this deadline may be extended on the basis of the decision of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, by a maximum of one year, in case the student is unable to perform his/her obligations due to giving birth, suffering an accident or illness, or some other unexpected reason beyond his/her control.
- (5) The conditions of receiving the doctoral degree:
 - documented independent academic achievements;
 - proof of the satisfaction of the language requirements;
 - the submission of the dissertation and successful public defence;
- (6) Obtaining the absolutorium is the condition of the submission of the doctoral dissertation. At the time of the submission of the doctoral dissertation, the candidate shall declare in writing that
 - the student has no other doctoral degree conferment procedure in progress in the same discipline;
 - the dissertation has not been submitted in another institute previously and has not been rejected;
 - the student did not have an unsuccessful doctoral defence within the past two years;
 - the doctoral candidate is not subject to proceedings aimed at the revocation of a doctoral degree, and that a doctoral degree earlier conferred has not been revoked from him or her during the past 5 years;
 - the dissertation is his/her independent, original work, and the references are complete and clear.
- (7) In the composition of the defence boards, special attention shall be paid to avoid any possible conflict of interest. Close relatives of the doctoral students or other person from whom an objective evaluation may not be expected for any other reason shall not be allowed to participate in the doctoral procedure.
- (8) The costs of the degree-conferment procedure and the remuneration of the persons participating in the procedure shall be detailed in Appendix 12 to the regulations.

(9) A written record in accordance with Appendix 10 of Government Decree 87/2015 (IV.9.) shall be drawn up on the individual stages of the doctoral procedure. The data shall be also entered in the electronic academic record-keeping system.

(10) In the course of the degree-conferment procedure, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall act with special caution in determining whether the academic activity attributed to the candidate is in fact his or her own work, and whether the academic work and publications of the candidate submitted in the course of the degree-conferment procedure was used by others for the purpose of receiving an academic degree in Hungary or abroad. In the course of the procedure, the relevant declarations shall be obtained from co-authors in Hungary and abroad.

(11) If any well-founded suspicion of plagiarism, intentional manipulation of data, wilful misleading or any type of fraud should arise in connection with the academic publications or the dissertation of the candidate, the Chairperson of the relevant doctoral committee shall be required to initiate an ethics investigation to be conducted against the candidate in the course of which the potential responsibility of the candidate's supervisor shall also be examined. The degree-conferment procedure shall be suspended for the duration of the ethics investigation. In possession of the results of the ethics investigation, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall decide on possible penalties.

15. Independent academic work

(1) The candidate shall give evidence of his or her academic accomplishments by the time of the submission of the dissertation, by way of at least two publications in a refereed academic journal or volume (accepted for publication or having its DOI number or available in proofs). It is a basic requirement that at least one of these should be written with the decisive contribution of the candidate. A copy of the publications (in original or photocopy) shall be submitted along with the dissertation, and also uploaded to the publications database of the University and National Library of the University of Debrecen. On the basis of the publications uploaded to the database, the library shall prepare and authenticate the candidate's list of publications, which shall then be submitted by the candidate, together with the dissertation, to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

The requirements of the given discipline in terms of the place and number of the publications shall be elaborated by the council of the doctoral school, and approved by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area. The requirements shall be published in the rules of operation of the doctoral school. With justified disciplinary exceptions, publication in international journals is an expectation. Wherever the use of scientometric methods is justified, the results of the same shall also be taken into consideration.

(2) Publications may also have co-authors, including the supervisor of the candidate. If two candidates are authors in a publication, the dissertation supervisor shall make a declaration on the percentage of the given candidate's contribution.

(3) In the evaluation of the acceptable academic publications, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall use the criteria specified in Appendix 6 as guiding.

The publication conditions of degree-awarding in the area of arts and humanities

- (4) At the time of submitting the dissertation, the candidate shall provide proof of at least four publications (with publications presented for the admission to the programme not counting), in any of the high-quality, refereed journals as determined by the council of the doctoral school (editors' letters of acceptance or pre-print proofs are also acceptable); the publications shall be related to the topic of the dissertation.
- At least two of the four publications shall be longer papers comparable to a dissertation chapter.
 - A publication in a prestigious foreign periodical shall be counted as the equivalent of two publications in Hungary.
 - At least half of the required four publications required for the degree awarding shall be single-author or first-author publications. (This rule shall be applicable in case of students starting the doctoral programme after 1 September 2020.)
- (5) A further condition of the degree-awarding procedure is also participation at a conference (other than the OTDK – National Student Competition, which does not count).
- (6) Each of the individual doctoral schools shall provide a list of the periodicals that they have approved as acceptable academic publication forums. If an article published in a periodical not included in the list as an academic publication, the dissertation supervisor shall justify this decision in the opinion given on the thesis booklet.

16. Knowledge of foreign languages

- (1) The scope of foreign languages required by the Act on National Higher Education, as necessary for the cultivation of the disciplinary area, shall be determined by the council of the doctoral school. The knowledge of one of these languages may be prescribed as mandatory. The Rules of Operation of the doctoral school contains the language requirements of the doctoral degree-conferment procedure, the list of the acceptable languages, and the way in which language skills may be certified. The Rules of Operation may also stipulate the knowledge of which foreign language the doctoral school considers as indispensable for working in their disciplinary area, and therefore, necessary for the conferment of the doctoral degree.
- (2) The language requirement of conferment of the doctoral degree is the knowledge of one or more foreign languages necessary for the cultivation of the disciplinary area. The doctoral committees of the disciplinary areas determine which language(s) knowledge is required for the cultivation of the given field of the disciplinary area. The Rules of Operation of the doctoral school contains the way in which language skill may be certified.

17. The dissertation

- (1) The dissertation is a work in Hungarian or a foreign language as justified by the needs of the profession summarizing the objectives, new academic results, familiarity with the relevant literature, and the research methods of the candidate.
- (2) On the title page of the dissertation, the author, the title of the dissertation, the name of the supervisor, as well as the place and date of writing shall be indicated. In the preliminary pages of the dissertation, space shall be set aside for entering the names of the opponents and the defence board, as well as the date of the defence (Appendix 7). The dissertation shall have a table of contents, a summary in Hungarian and English, as well as a bibliography. The dissertation may have an appendix (e.g. photographs, documents, etc.).

(3) The dissertation shall be submitted in the form and in the number of copies as specified by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, and also electronically to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

(4) The theses of the dissertation shall also be enclosed with the dissertation, in the number of copies specified by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area. The doctoral theses is a summary work prepared for the academic public in which the doctoral candidate describes his or her academic results on the basis of which, in the degree conferment procedure, he or she can give proof of preparation for receiving the academic degree. The doctoral theses shall be prepared in Hungarian and English (or other languages, in line with the characteristics of the given discipline and approved by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area). The doctoral theses shall be printed and bound in A5 booklet format. Its title page shall indicate the name of the candidate, the name of the dissertation supervisor, the name and logo of the university, the name of the doctoral school, as well as the place and year of its preparation (see Appendix 8). It shall contain the list of publications and conference papers, authenticated by the Library, which have been used as sources for the dissertation or that are otherwise related. The candidate shall provide for the preparation of the theses in Hungarian and English (or other languages in line with the specific requirements of the given discipline and approved by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area), also in an electronic format, which shall be submitted at the time of the submission of the dissertation.

(5) Before finalizing the dissertation, it shall be submitted to a preliminary defence in accordance with the quality assurance plan of the doctoral school. The preliminary defence shall be organised by the council of the doctoral school. A written record of the preliminary defence shall be drawn up.

The Chairperson and the members of the defence board of the preliminary defence shall be appointed by the council of the doctoral school. The defence board shall consist of at least three members, and its members shall be the Chairperson, two opponents and further members in accordance with the Operational Order of the doctoral school. All members of the board shall have academic degrees. The Chairperson of the board shall be an accredited core member of one of the doctoral schools operating in the competent disciplinary area of the university, preferably a member of the council of the concerned doctoral school. At least one-third of the members of the board shall not be faculty members of the concerned doctoral school.

Before evaluation, the secretary of the doctoral school shall send the dissertation submitted for preliminary defence to the University and National Library for screening for duplicate text. The library shall prepare the document containing the result of screening within 3 business days, and the secretary of the doctoral school shall forward it to the opponents. In their report the opponents shall declare that on the basis of the available data the dissertation meets the requirements of publication ethics. The preliminary defence may be conducted even if the opponent(s) raise an academic ethical objection, and the potential corrections to the final dissertation can be made without penalty. If the opponent of the preliminary defence has raised an academic ethical objection, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall be notified of the objection at the submission of the final dissertation. In such cases the text of the final dissertation shall undergo a repeated screening for duplicate text, and the result of the screening shall be sent to the official opponents.

(6) The further formal requirements and length of the dissertation and the theses shall be determined by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

(7) After the submission of the dissertation, the theses and the publications in the subject of the dissertation, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall make a decision as to whether the dissertation may be submitted to the public defence. The decision shall be recorded on the registry sheet of the candidate. With attention to the recommendation of the council of the doctoral school, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall appoint the defence board and the official opponents. The official opponents shall declare within 15 days of the receipt of the request whether or not they undertake the duty, without the need to give reasons for their decision.

(8) The candidate shall upload the doctoral dissertation and the theses in electronic form to the archive of the University and National Library before the announcement of the doctoral defence. After the successful defence, the University and National Library shall provide for ensuring public access to the entire doctoral dissertation and the theses, as well as its accessibility in the Hungarian National Scientific Bibliography (MTMT).

(9) In case of doctoral dissertation that have connections with patents or other protected intellectual property, the provision of public access to the doctoral dissertation and the theses may be postponed at the request of the candidate, on the basis of the supporting opinion of the defence board and the approval of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, until the date of registration of the patent or other IP protection, at the latest. Public access to doctoral dissertations and doctoral theses containing classified data from a national security point of view shall be provided until the expiry of such classification.

(10) The candidate shall submit the items listed in points (3) to (13):

(11) Proof of original academic work. Pursuant to Section 15 of the Doctoral Regulations, the candidate shall certify his/her academic performance. The requirements that the candidate must fulfil (a specific number of acceptable publications, academic papers presented, etc.) shall be determined by the doctoral programmes. The certification of the above shall be issued by the head of the programme on a form used for this purpose. The secretary of the doctoral school shall certify by his/her signature that the candidate has submitted the dissertation, the thesis booklets and abstracts, as well as the keywords of the dissertation topic electronically.

(13) The written record of the preliminary defence of the dissertation. At least five persons who are experts of the area and hold academic degrees shall participate at the defence, of which a written record shall be drawn up. The preliminary defence shall be organised by the programme council.

(14) Certification of proficiency in foreign languages in accordance with Section 16 of the Doctoral Regulations. If the regulations of the given doctoral programme also prescribe additional requirements concerning proficiency in foreign languages, the fulfilment of these requirements shall also be certified (see Appendix). Photocopies of the documents shall be submitted in 2 copies.

(15) Two copies of the degree certificate.

(16) Two copies of the curriculum vitae.

(17) Two copies of the list of publications.

(18) The dissertation. The formal requirements applicable to the doctoral dissertation are the following:

The doctoral dissertation shall be edited in accordance with the norms accepted in arts and humanities:

- 12-size font
- 1.5 line spacing
- easily legible font type (e.g. Times New Roman, Arial)
- margins: 2 cm, except on the left side where it is 3 cm because of the binding
- black or other dark-coloured hard cover

The doctoral dissertation shall be submitted bound, the hard cover shall be edited as follows:

Doctoral (Ph.D.) dissertation
Title
Name
University of Debrecen DCAH

The maximum length of dissertation shall be 250 pages, with 2,400 to 2,600 characters per page; in case of dissertations exceeding this length, the procedural fee shall be increased by 33% for each 50 additional pages. If the regulations of the doctoral programme also prescribe additional requirements concerning the dissertation, the fulfilment of these requirements shall also be certified. By signing the first page of the doctoral dissertation, the supervisor undertakes responsibility of the proper academic quality of the work. On page 2 of the dissertation, the candidate shall make the following declaration: "The undersigned XY, in full awareness of my liability, I declare that the dissertation submitted is my original academic work, which was prepared with attention to the international norms of copyright, and the references included in it are clear and complete. I further declare that I am not currently subject to a procedure aimed at the revocation of a doctoral degree, and that a doctoral degree already awarded has not been revoked from me in the past 5 years. I have not submitted the present dissertation at another institute before, and it has not been rejected." The dissertation shall be submitted in at least 3 copies.

(19) The doctoral student and the dissertation supervisor shall submit a declaration for the result of the analysis of textual overlap of the dissertation submitted for preliminary degree, which is conducted by the University and National Library. In such declaration, the doctoral student shall prepare an explanatory note covering each of the publications referenced in the dissertation, and the dissertation supervisor shall declare that the dissertation was prepared in accordance with the work plan previously drawn up, in compliance with the norms of academic ethics.

(20) If the text of the dissertation is changed or expanded significantly from the version examined at the preliminary defence, the analysis of textual overlap shall be conducted again before the public defence.

(21) The booklet containing the theses of the dissertation pursuant to Section 17 of the Doctoral Regulation, which is to be submitted in 15 copies in Hungarian. The rules governing the content and form of the thesis booklets can be found in Appendix 8.

(22) The dissertation, its Hungarian and English-language abstract, the title of the dissertation in Hungarian and English, the keywords of the dissertation in Hungarian and English, as well as the thesis booklet in Hungarian and foreign language.

(23) The English-language abstract of the dissertation, with keywords (2,000 to 5,000 characters).

(24) At least four publications, in original or photocopy, that have appeared in refereed academic periodicals or volumes (some of which may be accepted for publication or having been assigned a DOI number, or available in pre-print proofs).

(25) The invitation to the public defence, which is to be submitted to the secretary of the disciplinary area and the secretary of the given doctoral school after the public defence has been scheduled, at least 30 days before the date of the public defence.

(26) The public defence may only be held in an institution related to the discipline of the DCAH.

18. The dissertation evaluation and the public defence

(1) The doctoral dissertation shall be defended in a public defence held before the defence board. The language of the defence shall be Hungarian, or in justified cases any other world language. The defence shall be announced publicly, at least two weeks before the date of the defence on the website of the National Doctoral Committee, the university and the doctoral school, by way of providing access to the text of the dissertation and the theses. At the request of the candidate, a closed defence may also be held, provided that the doctoral dissertation contains data involved in a patent procedure or classified from a national security point of view. The request for holding a closed defence shall be submitted to the Chairperson of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area. The decision on the approval of the application shall be made by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, on the basis of the supporting opinion of the defence board.

(2) The chairperson and the members (as well as backup members) of the defence board shall be appointed by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area. The defence board shall consist of the chairperson, the official opponents and two to four additional members. The chairperson of the board may be a full professor or professor emeritus of the university having the necessary professional competence, and each member of the board shall have an academic degree. At least one-third of the members of the board, and within that at least one of the opponents shall be an external member not in the employment of the university (a professor emeritus or retired faculty member of the university shall not qualify as external members). The opponent rejecting the dissertation shall be also a member of the board (cf. section (3) below). The supervisor of the candidate, as well as any person who is a co-author of the publication(s) serving as the basis of the dissertation may not be a member of the board. The candidate may submit a written complaint to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area against the composition of the defence board within 8 days, only on the basis of alleged bias or conflict of interest.

(3) The two opponents shall, at the request of the doctoral committee, within two months after the submission of the dissertation during the normal academic year, prepare a written opponents' report of the dissertation, and declare whether they support its submission for a public defence. The dissertation may only be submitted to the public defence in case of two supporting opponents. If the opinion of one of the opponents is negative, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall also request the opinion of a third opponent. In case of two negative opinions, the degree-conferment procedure shall be considered as unsuccessful, and the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall end the procedure. The dissertation shall be put to the public defence within two months after the availability of the two supporting opponents' reports, during the normal academic year.

In the opponents' reports, the positive and negative features of the dissertation in terms of content and form shall be detailed, with special attention as to whether the new academic results discussed by the candidate in the theses are acceptable or not. In case the dissertation underwent screening for duplicate text (cf. 17 section (5)), the opponents shall declare that on the basis of the available data the dissertation meets the requirements of publication ethics. The opponents shall declare as to whether they recommend that the dissertation be approved and – in case it is successfully defended – the PhD degree is conferred to the candidate. In the reports, questions may also be directed to the candidate. The opponents' reports shall be sent in 2 signed copies to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

(4) The candidate shall receive the opponents' reports in advance, and shall send his or her written answers to the questions raised in them to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area that organises the defence at least 15 days before the public defence. The doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall ensure that the members of the defence board have access to inspect the dissertation, the opponents' reports and the answers.

(5) The public defence is chaired by the chairperson of the defence board. At the beginning of the defence, the chairperson examines if there is quorum. The defence may be conducted if at least one of the opponents is present and the other opponent has stated in writing that he or she accepts the answers received to his or her questions, and further, if at least two-thirds of all members of the defence board are present, including the at least one external member.

(6) In the framework of the public defence, the candidate may discuss the theses of his or her dissertation in the form of a free presentation, and then shall answer the questions raised by the opponents in writing, as well as any questions of the members of the board, opponents, and others present.

(7) After the closing of the defence, the board shall make a decision behind closed doors, by way of a ballot, on the doctoral dissertation and the independent academic accomplishments of the candidate, as well as his or her performance at the doctoral defence. All voting members of the board shall evaluate the dissertation and the academic accomplishment, and with a separate grade the performance given by the candidate at the defence, on a four-degree scale (summa cum laude, cum laude, rite, did not pass). The board shall adopt separate resolutions in both categories, and the result shall be determined on the basis of the votes of the members of the board, in accordance with Appendix 13. The chairperson of the board shall openly announce and justify the result of the public defence after the voting.

(8) A written record shall be drawn up of the public defence (see Appendix 5/2). The written record shall be public, and in case of a written request, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area may issue a copy of it. The resolutions of the defence board, along with the reasons, shall be recorded on the registry sheet of the candidate. At the request of the candidate, the Chairperson of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area may issue a certificate of the result of the public defence.

(9) Within 30 days of the successful doctoral defence, the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall make available to the University and National Library a printed copy of the dissertation. The University and National Library shall provide for the catalogued placement of the dissertation in the library's holdings.

(10) In case of a closed defence, the chairperson of the defence board shall, after obtaining the opinion of the candidate, decide on who – in addition to the candidate and the members of the defence board – may participate at the defence. All participants shall sign a confidentiality undertaking, which shall be attached to the written record of the defence. The procedure of the defence held behind closed doors, but the decision-making process shall be otherwise identical as in the case of a public defence, as described in sections (2) to (7). The written record of the closed defence shall not be publicly available, and no copy may be issued of it. A copy of a dissertation defended in a closed defence shall also be made available to the University and National Library, but the necessary measures shall be taken to maintain the confidentiality of the dissertation.

(11) In case of two negative opponents' reports or unsuccessful defences, a new defence procedure may only be initiated after not less than two years, and only once in the same doctoral topic. The amount of the procedural fee to be paid in case of initiating a new defence procedure shall be determined by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

(12) The preliminary written proposition of the competent programme council for the composition of the dissertation/evaluation committee shall be submitted to the DCAH by one of the representatives of the programme council.

(13) Proposals of the programme council for the composition of the committees shall be approved by the DCAH. The programme council shall notify the candidate of the composition of the committees. The candidate may submit an appeal to the DCAH concerning the composition of the committee within 8 days.

(14) The public defence may only be held in an institution related to the discipline of the DCAH.

(15) In addition to the provisions in Section 18 (3) of the Doctoral Regulations, the other members as well as the chairperson of the evaluation/dissertation committee shall draw up a brief written opinion on the dissertation, which they shall discuss at the debate and attached to its written record.

(16) The candidate may only proceed to the public defence if the documents submitted satisfy the relevant requirements. The DCAH reserves the right to postpone the closing of the procedure, in agreement with the leaders of the competent school, if it is concluded that these documents are not of a suitable standard. In such a case, the candidate shall be called upon to resubmit the documents.

18/A⁵ The electronic (online) form of the public defence

(1) Public defence may only take place in an online or mixed (personal presence and online combined) form if national/central and/or university provisions do not allow the participants of the public defence, or any part of such participants, to attend the public defence in traditional form (by way of personal presence). The online participation of a candidate can only be supported in exceptional and justified cases, where his or her personal presence is permanently impeded.

(2) An electronic public defence can only be organised if the candidate specifically requests this, also providing his or her reasons, the head of the doctoral school supports this requests, and the doctoral council consents to holding this form of the defence. The president of the doctoral council of the disciplinary area shall provide reasons if the council does not consent to holding the public defence in an online form.

(3) In the course of the defence, the online presence, by way of video and audio, of the candidate, the official referees (opponents) and an appropriate number of the member of the defence committee (see Subsection (4) shall be ensured. Further, it is also necessary to ensure the conditions of voting by way of secret ballot. Anyone wishing to make a comment in the course of the public defence shall also be provided an opportunity to do so.

(4) An online public defence can only be organised if the technical conditions are satisfied on the part of the candidate and all official referees and members of the dissertation committee, subject to the rules of presence provided for in Section 18 (5). (The defence may be conducted if at least one of the referees is present at least in online form, and the referee who is not present has stated in writing that he or she accepts the answers received to his or her questions, and further, if at least two-thirds of all members of the defence committee are present at least in online form, including at least one external member.)

(5) Anyone wishing to participate in the public defence as an audience member must register in advance on a dedicated electronic interface established for that protection. By undertaking to give his or her signature, anyone may make a comment on the doctoral dissertation by 12 noon on the day before the defence, by submitting it to the Secretary of the doctoral council of the disciplinary area. The comment shall be forwarded by the secretary of the council to the chairperson of the dissertation committee.

(6) In order to hold a public defence, if so requested by those involved in the procedure, a preliminary technical meeting may be held to learn how to use the system.

(7) The cameras of the candidate and the members of the dissertation committee shall be switched on throughout the duration of the entire defence, and their continuous presence shall be mandatory. If the online public defence is interrupted due to a technical problem and the online connection cannot be restored for all of those whose presence is mandatory (the candidate, members of the dissertation committee, official referees), the public defence shall be repeated.

(8) In case the Internet connection with someone who is required to be present is interrupted during the defence, if the connection can be restored, the defence shall be resumed from the point where the interruption occurred. The attempts to restore the connection may last up to 10 minutes. If the connection with this participant cannot be restored, but the quorum for decision-making is otherwise available, the defence may be continued. Members of the dissertation committee who left the defence may not take part in the voting. If the secretary (keeper of the minutes) is affected by the interruption, then the chairperson shall request another member of the dissertation committee to take over the task of keeping the minutes. If the connection with the candidate cannot be restored, the public defence shall be postponed and re-scheduled.

19. The closing of the degree conferment procedure, the qualification of the doctoral degree, the content of the doctoral diploma, and the conferment ceremony

- (1) The doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall, on the basis of the reports of the defence board, as well as the qualifications received, make a recommendation to the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University on the conferment of the doctoral (PhD) degree and its qualification, by simultaneously also sending to them the entire documentation (copy of the university diploma, copies of documents certifying language skills, list of publications by the candidate, the official opponents' reports and the candidate's responses, the written record of the defence, and the resolution by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area). The doctoral degree-conferment procedure shall conclude with the decision of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University. The Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University adopts a resolution on the conferment of the degree, which shall also be recorded on the candidate's registry sheet.
- (2) The degree conferment procedure shall be successful if the defence board found the candidate's dissertation, independent academic accomplishments and performance given at the defence satisfactory.
- (3) The qualification of the doctoral (PhD) degree is determined by the qualifications of a) the dissertation, b) the independent academic accomplishments, and c) the defence. The overall qualification of the degree shall be summa cum laude if all three qualifications were summa cum laude; rite if at least two of the three were rite; and cum laude in all other cases.
- (4) The Scientific Directorate shall issue the doctoral diploma within 30 days of the resolution of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University, and shall provide an official copy of the same if requested. The date of the diploma shall be the date of the resolution of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University, and holders of the doctoral (PhD) degree may use their title of Dr. (PhD) from that date.
- (5) The diploma shall be a public document bearing the coat of arms of Hungary, which shall show the name, the institutional identifier and an imprint of the seal of the University of Debrecen, the serial number of the diploma, the name of the holder of the diploma, his or her birth name, place and date of birth, the qualification of the doctoral degree, the disciplinary area and the discipline, as well as the place and date when the degree was conferred. The diploma may only be issued in one discipline. Along with the name of the discipline, if requested, the name of the doctoral school and/or the doctoral program from which the candidate received the degree may also be indicated. The diploma shall be signed by the rector and the Chairperson of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University (Appendix 9).
- (6) The university shall issue the diploma in Hungarian and English.
- (7) The conferment of doctoral degrees shall take place in the framework of an official ceremony. The faculties/doctoral schools may contribute to the costs of the ceremony in proportion to the number of doctorates conferred by them (see Appendix 12). In the framework of the conferment of the degrees, the candidates shall take an oath. The words of the oath are included in Appendix 10.

20. Earning a doctoral degree with high distinction

(1) With the prior consent of the Chairperson of the republic, the university shall confer the doctorate with the high distinction of Promotio sub auspiciis Praesidentis Rei Publicae to those who completed their secondary school, university and doctoral studies with outstanding results.

(2) The candidate concerned may initiate the conferment of the doctoral degree with high distinction in a written application submitted to the Chairperson of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University. Such application shall be accompanied by certified copies of all documents evidencing that the candidate has satisfied the requirements of Section 18 of Government Decree 387/2012 (XII.19.). On the recommendation of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University, the Senate shall decide whether it supports the application.

21. The nostrification of academic degrees earned abroad

(1) The University shall nostrify an academic degree conferred abroad as a doctoral (PhD) degree, if

- a) it was issued by an educational institution in a foreign state that, on the basis of the laws of that state, has the right to issue academic degrees;
- b) the requirements of the obtaining of the academic degree correspond or, by prescribing certain additional conditions, can be rendered corresponding to the requirements imposed by the relevant provisions of law and the doctoral regulations of the university for the obtaining of the doctoral (PhD) degree.

(2) The university may only nostrify an academic degree issued by a foreign university in disciplinary areas and within that in disciplines in which it is entitled to conduct doctoral education and to confer doctoral degrees (see Appendix 1).

(3) The university may impose certain conditions on the nostrification of the academic degree conferred abroad, concerning which the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area shall make a decision based on the recommendation of the competent doctoral school.

(4) The applicant shall include the following with his or her application for the starting of the procedure, to be submitted to the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area (see Appendix 11):

- a) the certified copy of the original certificate or diploma or, in exceptional cases, a certified copy of a document that is equivalent to the original diploma (e.g. duplicate);
- b) the certified copy of a document issued by the educational institute abroad (e.g. academic record book, official transcript), which proves the length of the studies completed and the successful performance of the requirements prescribed for the conferment of the diploma (courses completed, examinations, doctoral dissertation, etc.);
- c) the certified Hungarian translations of the documents indicated in sections a) and b) above, and
- d) proof that the applicant has paid the procedural fee stipulated in section (6).

(5) For the purposes of this section, a certified copy shall be a copy considered as certified by virtue of a provision of law, as well as copies prepared by the university from the original document and certified as such. The university may call upon the applicant to present the originals of the documents mentioned in sections (4) a) and b) above. The doctoral committee of the disciplinary area may specify that the above mentioned documents may also be submitted in non-certified translations in certain languages.

(6) As the fee for the nostrification procedure, the applicant shall pay the amount equalling 0.75 times the smallest statutory salary (minimum wage), as prescribed by the relevant law, at the time of the application (see Section 64 (3) of Act C of 2001).

(7) The decision on the nostrification shall be made by the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University on the basis of the proposal submitted by the competent doctoral school and the recommendation of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area.

(8) In its decision on the nostrification of the academic degree, the University shall authorize the applicant to use the title of doctor and shall issue a diploma to this effect. The diploma shall be signed by the rector and the Chairperson of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University. The diploma thus issued shall have no qualification. The diploma shall be issued in accordance with Section 17 (6) and (7) of the present regulations.

CHAPTER VI

Miscellaneous provisions

22. The revocation of a doctoral degree

(1) If a doctoral degree was conferred in such a way that its holder had presented another person's intellectual work as partly or wholly his or her own, or used fabricated or falsified data in the dissertation, and thereby misled or kept in error the body or person acting in the matters of the doctoral procedure, the degree may be revoked. A procedure aimed at the revocation of the doctoral degree may be conducted if the holder of the title is still alive at the time when the procedure is started.

(2) A procedure aimed at the revocation of a doctoral degree may be initiated by anyone with the Chairperson of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University, if they are able to prove or establish the reasonable likelihood of the situation described in section (1) above.

(3) The decision on the revocation of the doctoral degree shall be made by the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University. The Chairperson of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University shall request a resolution to be adopted by the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area competent on the basis of the discipline of the doctoral degree whether the situation described in section (1) can in fact be established concerning the holder of the degree. In a procedure launched for the revocation of a doctoral degree, an expert or experts may be retained, and the holder of the degree concerned must also be given a hearing. If the holder of the degree does not appear despite being summoned to a hearing on multiple occasions, or requests that the procedure be conducted without a hearing where he or she is present, the Doctoral and Habilitation Council may also adopt a decision on the issue concerned without holding a hearing.

(4) If, in a procedure launched at the initiative of the original author, a final court ruling has already established the breach of copyright prior to the launching of the procedure, the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University need not conduct the investigation in this question, and the final court ruling is sufficient grounds for the revocation of the degree.

(5) At the meeting of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University, the entity submitting the proposal for the revocation of the doctoral degree shall be the Chairperson of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University. The Chairperson of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University shall notify the revocation of the doctoral degree to its holder in writing, and shall call upon him or her to return his or her diploma. An appeal against the resolution revoking the degree may be submitted within 8 working days of the receipt of the resolution, which is to be submitted to the rector of the university in writing. The rector shall make a decision on the appeal within 15 days of its receipt.

(6) The doctoral degree revoked by the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University may not be received back through another procedure either.

(7) The University shall publish the final resolution of revocation.

23. The doctor honoris causa title

(1) The University may confer the title of honorary doctorate (doctor honoris causa) to Hungarian and foreign individuals worthy of such recognition. The honorary doctorate may be earned with academic work of international recognition and through activities performed in the interest of the University.

(2) A proposal for the conferment of an honorary doctorate may be submitted by senior faculty members or by organisational units of education. The decision on the proposal shall be made by the Senate, after prior consultation and scheduling with the rector and the competent dean, and then obtaining the opinion of the Faculty Council and the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University. The honorary doctorate may generally be conferred to 6 persons per year and up to 3 persons at a time. A derogation from the above is possible, in case of proposals submitted out of the interests of the University, on the basis of the decision of the rector.

(3) Proposals by the individual faculties and independent institutes may be submitted in proportion to the number of qualified instructors and researchers. The details of the above shall be determined by the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University. Proposals submitted out of the interests of the University shall not influence the possibilities at the disposal of the individual faculties, even if the proposal is submitted from a professional standpoint by one of the faculties.

(4) The diploma of the honorary doctorate shall be issued in Latin. At the request of the conferee, the diploma shall also be issued in Hungarian or a world language as requested by the recipient. The personalized text of the invitation and the diploma shall be approved by the rector. The diploma shall be signed by the rector, the Chairperson of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University, and the dean of the faculty submitting the proposal.

(5) The title of honorary doctor may be conferred at a ceremonial, publicly held session of the council where doctoral degrees are otherwise conferred, or in exceptional cases at other ceremonious events of the University.

(6) The recipient shall receive the gown of the university decorated with the emblem of the faculty proposing the conferment of the honorary doctorate.

(7) The title of honorary doctor may be revoked if:

- the recipient was banned from public affairs by a final judgement of the court;
- the recipient has committed a material breach of the norms of academic ethics, his or her obligations toward the University, or has otherwise become unworthy of the title. The decision on the revocation of the title shall be made by the Senate after obtaining the opinion of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University.

24. The doctoral regulations

(1) The doctoral regulations of the university shall be subject to approval by the Senate. A copy of the regulations shall be sent to the Ministry of Human Resources and the Hungarian Accreditation Committee.

25. The fees for procedures and the remuneration of persons participating in them

(1) The fees to be paid in the course of the doctoral education and the degree-conferment procedure, as well as the remuneration of the persons participating in the various procedures shall be specified in Appendix 12.

25.1 Ethics requirements

(1) Each doctoral student shall be bound by the obligation to fully comply with the written and unwritten rules of academic ethics.

(2) Any doctoral student who breaches the rules of academic ethics in a documentable way during the period of coursework shall receive a grade of fail on that course, and shall repeat the course.

(3) If a breach of ethics (e.g. plagiarism) becomes proved in connection with a chapter of the dissertation, either during the period of coursework or the individual preparation, the doctoral student may not be given a pre-degree certificate or the certificate on the basis of which the degree-awarding procedure can be started.

(4) If a breach of ethics arises during the degree-awarding procedure in connection with the dissertation submitted, the degree-awarding procedure shall be suspended, and the candidate shall be excluded from all doctoral programmes of University of Debrecen in the Arts and Humanities disciplinary area.

(5) It shall be the obligation of all teachers in the doctoral programmes to comply with the written and unwritten rules of academic ethics. If an objection on the grounds of ethics arises in connection with the conduct of any teacher, the DCAH shall include this issue on its agenda.

26. Implementing and transitional provisions

(1) The doctoral regulations shall enter into effect on 1 September 2016.

(2) In case of students whose doctoral education commenced before 1 September 2016, as well as doctoral candidates whose degree conferment procedure started before that date, the provisions of the Doctoral Regulations of the University of Debrecen adopted in 2008, as amended on several occasions, shall be applied for the entire period of the doctoral education and the degree conferment procedure.

27. Legal remedies

(1) Doctoral students and participants in the doctoral education and degree conferment procedure may submit an appeal, by keeping the proper order of levels, to the Chairperson of the committee of the doctoral school, the Chairperson of the doctoral committee of the disciplinary area, the Chairperson of the Doctoral and Habilitation Council of the University, and the rector.

Final clauses

(1) The Doctoral Regulations of the University, which served as basis for the present Regulations of Operation, were adopted by the Senate on 28 April 2016 by way of resolution no. 46/2016. (IV. 28.).

(2) The Doctoral Regulations of the University were modified by the Senate on 29 September 2016; the changes have been introduced in the text of the regulations.

Point scores in the admission process to doctoral programmes (Appendix 3)

The unified point score system consists of 100 available points which can be earned in 3 categories.

- In the first category, the board of admissions examines the candidate's professional intelligence and orientation, plans related to the research project proposed to be carried out in the course of the doctoral programme, and how well-founded it is. The assessment of the above may take place in the form of an oral examination and/or on the basis of an application or research proposal submitted in writing. The maximum points available in this category is 40.
- The second category evaluates the prior academic results of the candidate. This may be in the form of an index number generated from the grade point averages of completed semesters and/or the evaluation of the diploma received in the university/master's programme. The maximum points available in this category is 30.
- The third category evaluates the prior academic record and accomplishments of the candidate. Points may be earned on the basis of documented products (publications, papers submitted to TDK (Student Competition), etc.). The accomplishments for which points may be earned shall be identical with those listed in Section II. 2, paragraph c) of the Regulations of the Talent Management Programme of the University of Debrecen. The maximum points available in this category is 30. The scores shall be assigned by the board of doctoral admissions with attention to the following tiers:

20–30 points:

- first authored refereed publication in an academic journal (“in extenso”)
- prize-winning paper in the National Student Competition, 1st to 3rd place
- national design plan competition, 1st to 3rd place (or the plans being purchased)
- documented place in a Hungarian or international artistic or professional competition

10–20 points:

- non-first authored refereed publication in an academic journal
- first authored paper or poster in non-local conference and non-OTDK (National Student Competition)
- paper (and/or competition project) presented in the National Student Competition, not winning a prize
- national design plan competition, not winning a prize

0–10 points:

- non-first authored paper or poster other than in National Student Competition
- paper presented at local or student conference (other than TDK Student Competitions)
- exhibition of design plans at public exhibition
- documented concert participation

A prerequisite of admission is an intermediate-level, C-type (complex, i.e. oral and written) language examination, for which no points may be conferred. Extra points may be given for any additional language examinations. An intermediate-level C-type, or an advanced level A or B type language examination is worth 3 points, while an advanced-level C-type language examination is worth 5 points.

The scope of acceptable academic publications (Appendix 6)

The scope of acceptable academic publications includes printed and/or electronic publications (journal articles⁶, university/college textbooks, technical books, academic monographs, book chapters, translations from ancient classic languages, etc.), which:

- a) present the author's own research findings and results (in case of books, also refers to them in an itemized manner);
- b) include precise references to literature;
- c) have an ISBN or ISSN number;
- d) are refereed⁷;
- e) are referenced (can be found in a publicly known database);⁸
- f) have an impact factor subject to the given discipline/branch of art;
- g) have appeared in or as a professional publication, and this publication was issued by
 - h) an internationally or at least nationally recognized publisher;⁹
 - i) preferably in a foreign language that is widely used in professional circles;
 - j) can be found and accessed in major public libraries;
 - k) can be ordered/subscribed/purchased.

Also acceptable as publications are completed technical or artistic works, patents registered in Hungary or abroad; and as references, the documented implementation of or industrial mass production based on a patent.

The following are not acceptable as academic publications:

- writings published in daily newspapers or non-professional weeklies (even if their topic is of professional nature);
- works published by the author (if not reviewed in terms of language/content);
- university or college notes, auxiliary materials, handouts, workbooks, compilations, works of editing in terms of content or language, etc.;
- short (one-page) writings in conference proceedings or on a poster;
- (book) translations, with the exception of the translation of ancient classics, with philological annotations;
- book reviews or critiques (except longer analyses of works);
- research reports prepared in the framework of grant applications or for order;
- student theses, dissertations (for titles of dr.univ., PhD, DLA, CSc, DSc, inaugural papers);
- other manuscript-type treatises, writings;
- writings in popular science journals and similar (e.g. in Élet és Tudomány);
- interviews other than those prepared with research objectives and methodologies (either as the reporter or the subject);

⁶ Journal: a periodical publication, identified by a volume number, which appears regularly, typically at least four times (i.e. four issues) a year (but as a minimum twice), containing articles written for the given periodical, identified by a volume number.

⁷ Refereed (peer-reviewed) publication: an independent reader or readers has/have provided their opinion on the work before its publication. The acceptance of conference presentations on the basis of abstracts and their publication in conference proceedings shall NOT mean that they are refereed publications.

⁹ Hungarian publication of international circulation: publication that is circulated internationally by way of official, regular (subscription-based) channels.

- any writings that have not yet been published (planned) or accepted for publication.

The requirements of the disciplinary areas concerning the academic independent accomplishments of the candidate

Arts and Humanities

Until the starting of the degree-awarding procedure, the doctoral student shall provide proof of at least one publication (the publication presented for the admission does not count). The candidate shall, by the time of the start of the degree-conferment procedure, have at least four publications (with publications presented for the admission to the programme not counting), in any of the high-quality, refereed journals as determined by the council of the doctoral school (an editor's letter of acceptance is also acceptable); the publications shall be related to the topic of the dissertation. At least two of the four publications shall be longer papers comparable to a dissertation chapter (one may be a shorter paper). A publication in a prestigious foreign periodical shall be counted as the equivalent of two publications in Hungary. At least half of the required four publications required for the degree awarding shall be single-author or first-author publications. A further condition of the commencement of the degree conferment procedure is also participation at a conference (other than the OTDK – National Student Competition, which does not count).

Allowances, normative financing and fees to pay (Appendix 12)

1. The annual amount of a doctoral student participating in a state-financed doctoral education programme shall be the equivalent of the annual normative financing, as determined in the Act on the National Budget, plus 56% of the normative financing provided for textbooks, sports and cultural services. Each month, registered doctoral students shall receive one-twelfths of the annual amount thus determined.
2. Doctoral students who participated in a state-financed doctoral education programme and obtained their absolutorium shall receive a one-time stipend of HUF 400,000 upon the successful defence of their doctoral dissertation submitted within the statutory deadline and the conferment of the doctoral degree.
3. Fee for admission procedure: HUF 9,000
- 4.¹⁰ Fee for degree-conferment procedure: HUF 160,000
Honorarium for official opponent: HUF 20,000
The honorarium of external members of the defence committees: HUF 7,500
5. Contribution to the costs of the conferment ceremony (cf. Section 19 (7)), and the fee for the issuance of foreign-language diploma: 0.2 x PA (HUF 4,000 in 2016) (PA = supplements base for state employees)
6. The decision on the use of the incomes from the fee for admission procedure and the fee for degree-conferment procedure shall be made by the doctoral councils.
7. Decisions on further fees and honorariums shall be made, by taking into consideration the relevant provisions of law and the university regulations, by the doctoral councils and the councils of the doctoral schools in the disciplinary areas.

¹⁰ This section was changed in the course of the amendment of the regulations on 29 September 2016.

Doctoral acts and the qualification of the doctoral degree (Appendix 13)

The qualification of the doctoral degree shall be calculated from the aggregate of the qualifications assigned by the members of the board/committee. The qualification of the doctoral (PhD) degree is determined by the qualifications of a) the comprehensive examination b) the dissertation and the independent academic accomplishments, and c) the defence. The qualification of the doctoral degree: summa cum laude if all three qualifications were summa cum laude; rite if at least two of the three were rite; and cum laude in all other cases.

Each member shall provide an evaluation on a four-grade scale (summa cum laude, cum laude, rite, did not pass), and the opinion of the board/committee shall be calculated from these.

- The result shall be summa cum laude if more than half of the members gave a summa cum laude evaluation, and there was no evaluation below cum laude. If there are at least 5 members, the result shall be summa cum laude also if all but one member gave a summa cum laude evaluation (regardless of the evaluation given by that one member).
- The result shall be did not pass if more than half of the evaluations given were did not pass, and also, in case of an even number of members, half of the members gave an evaluation of did not pass and the other half gave a rite evaluation.
- In all other cases, the mathematical average of the evaluations shall be calculated on the basis of the following: did not pass corresponds to 1, rite to 2, cum laude to 3, and summa cum laude to 4. If the average is 2.5 or above, the result will be cum laude; otherwise it will be rite.
- The above principles are summarized by the tables below for boards and committees having 3 to 7 members (the numbers shown in the table indicate the number of votes for the given grade, with the last column showing the final qualification by the board/committee).
